Brief Report:

On 13/08/2022, a Seminar on the Freedom Fighters Contribution in Indian History was organized by the Department of Commerce and National Service Scheme (NSS) of Arts and Commerce College Kasegaon at Media Hall. Prof. B.G. Borate was the chief guest of this function. Dr. S. R. Mane, Principal was the chairperson. The chief guest inaugurated the function by watering the tree. The NSS Programme officer gave an introductory speech on the seminar theme. He said that the objective of the seminar is to inspire and educate young people about the sacrifices and contributions of India's freedom fighters.

Guest Guest, Prof. B.G.Borate in his presentation, discussed the events and ideas that led to India's independence from British rule. He also highlighted the contributions of prominent freedom fighters such as Mahatma Gandhi, Bhagat Singh, and Subhash Chandra Bose. He also focused on the relevance of the freedom struggle in modern times and discussed the role of youth in continuing the legacy of freedom fighters. He also spoke about the challenges faced by the country in the present era and the importance of preserving India's democratic values.

The seminar was attended by over 100 NSS volunteers, who found it informative and inspiring. Many participants mentioned that they were previously unaware of the sacrifices and struggles faced by the freedom fighters and felt motivated to contribute towards the betterment of the country. The event also received positive coverage in local media, which helped spread awareness about the seminar's objectives and outcomes. The seminar on the thoughts and history of freedom fighters organised by NSS was a resounding success. The event succeeded in its objective of educating and inspiring young people about India's freedom struggle and the contributions of the freedom fighters. It also provided a platform for youth to reflect on their roles in preserving and promoting India's democratic values.

Principal Dr. S. R. Mane was the chairperson. In the presidential speech, he pointed out the objective of educating and inspiring young people about India's freedom struggle and the contributions of the freedom fighters. The function ended with a vote of thanks by Prof. B.M. Sankpal.

Brief Report:

The adoption of the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020, which emphasizes equipping students with practical skills that prepare them for the challenges of the modern world, has considerably enhanced the significance of skill development. In compliance with this strategy, on September 21, 2022, the Department of Commerce of Arts and Commerce College Kasegaon held a Skill growth Programme to increase student awareness of the importance of soft skills and their role in personal and professional growth. Dr. Megha Dixit Started the program with an introduction and welcome, emphasizing the need for skill development in today's fast-changing world. Dr Megha Dixit pointed out how the NEP 2020 proposes a comprehensive approach to education that promotes not just academic success but also practical skills that enable students to flourish in a variety of areas of life.

Mr Aniket Swami, a well-known representative from Vestige Marketing Pvt. Ltd., took centre stage as the program's resource person. Mr. Swami's commercial background has proven to be a valuable source of insights into the field of soft skills. He covered a variety of soft skills topics, including body language, presentation skills, communication skills, and social intelligence. Through real-world examples and fascinating stories, Mr. Swami demonstrated how these seemingly intangible qualities have a substantial influence on human connections, professional advancement, and organizational success. Mr Swami emphasized the true benefits of having soft skills in the employment and business sectors throughout his lecture. He explained that, while technical knowledge is still important, the ability to successfully communicate ideas, create connections with colleagues and clients, and navigate a variety of scenarios is as important for professional advancement.

Mr. Swami's interactive technique kept students interested and responding throughout the session. The practical component of the curriculum, which included mock interviews to provide students with real-world experience, was one of its highlights. The purpose of this exercise was to bridge the gap between academic knowledge and real-world application by allowing students to practice their newly acquired soft skills in a simulated interview scenario. The students' eagerness to participate in these duplicated interviews proved the program's success in enhancing practical learning.

The chairman of the program, Prin. Dr. B.K. Mane addressed the audience and emphasized the need to develop soft skills early in college life. He emphasized that such abilities are useful not just in professional situations, but also in personal interactions and general personality development.

Prof. Bharat Kharat moved a vote of appreciation, thanking Mr. Aniket Swami for his informative session, the organizing committee for their efforts, and the attendees for their enthusiastic participation.

Brief Report:

On February 23, 2023, the Department of Commerce at Arts and Commerce College organized a valuable educational excursion for its students to the Dyno Institute of Hotel Management and Research Centre in Kasegaon. A total of 40 students participated in this visit. The primary purpose of this visit was to provide students with insights into the diverse career opportunities available in the field of hotel management. The event was made possible through the active participation of prominent figures in the hospitality industry.

The Chairman and Founder of the Dyno Institute of Hotel Management and Research Centre, Shri Anil Mane, was the guiding force for the students during their visit. He is not only an accomplished leader in the field of hospitality but also holds the position of State President of the International Human Rights Commission. During the visit, Shri Mane shared valuable information about hotel management courses, highlighting their unique features and the employment avenues they open up. His expertise extended beyond hospitality, as he also addressed legal aspects related to the Indian Penal Code and women's security laws, emphasizing the importance of legal awareness.

Shri Pravin Desai, the Manager of the Institute, contributed by providing students with detailed insights into the fee structure, course specifics, study materials, and other essential details. His input was crucial in helping students understand the practical aspects of pursuing a career in hotel management.

The Principal of the Dyno Institute of Hotel Management and Research Centre, Mrs. Pratibha Patil, also played a significant role during the visit. She shared her experiences and knowledge with the students, shedding light on the comprehensive nature of the courses offered at the institute. Mrs. Patil also introduced a few successful alumni who have excelled in their careers after completing their education at the institute.

The students were presented with a comprehensive overview of the hotel management sector. Shri Anil Mane's motivational speech not only emphasized the practical aspects of the industry but also underscored the importance of legal knowledge in today's society. Students gained insights into courses offered, employment prospects, and the multifaceted nature of the hospitality field.

Furthermore, Shri Pravin Desai and Mrs. Pratibha Patil addressed the students' queries regarding the institute's offerings, giving them a clearer picture of what to expect in terms of curriculum, study materials, and fees. The mention of successful alumni served as an inspiration to the students, demonstrating the institute's track record of nurturing talent and fostering successful careers.

Following Shri Anil Mane's enlightening presentation, the college's Commerce HOD, Dr Megha Dixit encouraged students to embrace the Hotel Management sector as a viable and satisfying career option. His statements reinforced the opinion that the sector not only provides professional development but also greatly contributes to personal development.

Prof. Bharat Kharat offered a vote of gratitude at the end of the Visit. He complimented Shri Anil Mane, Shri Pravin Desai, and Mrs. Pratibha Patil, for his informative session and thanked all attendees for their participation and great interest in exploring the potential presented by the Hotel Management sector.
